QUICK STOP TO WASTE OF CASH

Street Supervisor Raleigh Cuts Off Big Item of Useless Expense.

ENGINEER KELSEY LAYS OFF ADDITIONAL FORCE

View Taken Is That Adequate Services Were Not Rendered for the Expense.

Cutting down useless expense to which the city has been put in the two years of the old administration is being carried n vigorously by the new heads of the departments. The determination is everywhere manifest to conduct things on a siness basis, to no longer make city jobs "soft snap," where men may draw salaries by showing up once a day and doing as they please for the remainder of the so-called working hours.

Raleigh Gets Busy.

Jacob T. Raleigh, street supervisor, got busy Thursday and found that a good many men who were ostensibly employed city were not needed at this seaon of the year, that the services they were rendering were of no particular benefit. Mr. Raleigh dispensed with the services of twenty-six teams and drivers ed thirty additional men. Many of these have been engaged in grading, work that cannot be profitably carried on while the ground is frozen, others have been doing othing more than hauling snow, an em ployment that is useful only in so far as it serves to put some favorites on the

Will Be Big Saving.

As the men with teams have been recelving $4 per day, and the other workmen $2 per day each, a simple computation shows that the saving to the city is a little more than $4260 per month. Two foremen. Ben Harmon of the Third precinct and William Naylor of the paved district, were among those laid off.

Kelsey's Ax Again Falls.

City Engineer Kelsey wellded the axe again Thursday, dispensing with the services of nine men, members of surveying parties on the Big Cottonwood conduit The total payroll for these employees was 5650 per month, making with those who were removed Wednesday a saving to the city of $1670 per month. Mr. Kelsey will not fill any of these vacancies until spring

"Soldiering" on the City.

Investigation showed that many men hose names were on the payroll, were simply "soldiering" on the city, seeming to consider it only necessary to draw their dent a spirit breathing the sentiment: "A city job is a private snap," but that there will soon be an end to this state of affairs is plain from the vigorous and decisive ner in which the various heads of the departments are grasping the situation

JENSEN CASE AGAIN BEFORE THE COURT

Embezzlement Charge Being Vigorously Prosecuted by Dr. Kendall.

The embezzlement case against W. C. Jensen, formerly bookkeeper at McCoy ivery stable, occupied the attention of Justice Dana T. Smith Thursday, and will be resumed this afternoon. As previously stated in The Tribune, the case grew out of the disappearance of $500 given to Mr. Jensen by Dr. Kendall for safe keeping, the money being placed in the McCoy safe in the evening, but disappearing between that time and the following morning

Jensen Discharged.

Jensen Discharged.

When the case was tried before Judge C. B. Diehlt a month or more ago, the court held that Jensen was innocent, although there was direct evidence that the money had been taken by some one. In other words, there was not a sufficient amount of evidence to warrant a conviction. Efforts were made, it is alleged, to settle the case without going to trial, but this Mr. Jensen, it is alleged, refused to do. A new hearing was asked for and granted, the case being transferred to Dana T. Smith's court. The bond required when Mr. Jensen was first arrested was $2000, but only half this sum was asked for when the second warrant was issued.

So far no new evidence has been intro-duced in the case. The same witnesses who were subpoensed before testified. Thursday, and whatever new evidence the complaining witness may have to offer will be brought out this afternoon.

AMUSEMENTS

GRAND THEATRE-Gus Sun's Minstrels.

The decadence of minstrelsy within the past few years is a matter of much regret. This remark is not brought forth because of the appearance of the Gus Sun's Minstrels at the Grand Theatre Thursday night, save as they serve as opportune illustration of this deteri-oration. For many years old-time minstrelsy has been an unknown art, and the modern substitute has fallen sadly below the original conception.

IMPORTANT CLUE IN MURDER CASE

Coroner Dana T. Smith in Possession of Anonymous Letter.

WRITER INTIMATES IT WAS CASE OF SUICIDE

Evidently Written by Some One Who Wants Such a Verdict Returned.

Coroner Dana T. Smith is in possession f the most important clue yet found in the Nepht M. Sheets murder case, and then the jury resumes its investigations this morning the members will have a chance to verify this statement. The lue is simply an anonymous letter, writen in a disguised hand and directed to Dana T. Smith, in which the writer declares that Nephi M. Sheets had threat ened to take his own life and had so told member of his family a short time pre vious to the day his death occurred.

What Letter Contains.

The letter was mailed Wednesday and The letter was malled Wednesday and was delivered to Mr. Smith Thursday morning. The writing was done with pen and ink nearly all of the words were misspelled or capitalized where a capital was not needed. The letter follows.

"Nephi M. Sheets told a member of his family a short time before his death that because he was getting old and unable to earn a regular salary he would be better off dead than alive and that his family would profit by his act in case he committed suicide." ommitted suicide

No Name Signed.

No name was signed to the letter at all. It was written on a torn half sheet of common note paper and evidently great care had been taken to disguise the writing. It was directed to Dana T. Smith, Justice of the Peace, Salt Lake City, Utah. The letter was postmarked Salt Lake City and was mailed on Wednesday afternoon or evening.

What Letter Suggests.

The letter first of all suggests that some one is anxious for the jury to bring in a verdict of suicide. It indicates that such a verdict should be rendered and also indicates why it should be so rendered. So far all inquiries made at the home have failed to develop the information contained in the letter and no one has yet testified before the coroner's jury who seems to know anything about the has yet testified before the coroners jury who seems to know anything about the threat mentioned. If Nephi M. Sheets did say that his family would be better off after his death than before, no one has so testified, and naturally this statement would be among the first bits of evidence desired and expected. What Mrs. Sheets Says.

What MIS. Sheets Says.

To a Tribune reporter, shortly after the death of Mr. Sheets, Mrs. Sheets said. "My husband was the last person in the world who would think of committing suicide. He never hinted at such a thing to my knowledge, and was invariably good-natured. I know that he was murdered as well as I want to. All talk of suicide is ridiculous." Suicide Theory Absurd.

ragedy Letter Added to Evidence. Letter Added to Evidence.

The letter is now in possession of the coroner and is safely locked up with other articles that have been held for the jury's examination. The detectives haven't even been apprised of its receipt and it will not change hands until after the jury has examined it this morning and an effort made to locate the writer. Whether it was written with the intention of throwing light on the affair, or to cover up the work of the murderer, doesn't delract from its value to the jury, for the person who wrote it is evidently taking a deep interest in the investigations and could, if located, throw light on what at present is a dark mystery.

CHANGES TESTIMONY

Railroad Engineer Causes a Sensation While on Stand in Case.

There was a sensation in Judge Ritch-'s court Thursday, during the trial of damage case, when A. J. Duel, a Rlo Grande engineer, admitted that he had changed his testimony because he did ot want to offend the company and was afraid that he might lose his job. When pressed hard by James Ingebretsen of counsel for the plaintiff the witness be-came utterly confused, flatly contradic-ing himself probably a score of times in the course of his examination.

Admits Stultification. Duel was the engineer of the freight train upon which Peter Malmstrum, hus-band of Hilma Malmstrum, the plaintiff, was killed some two years ago. He had made a statement of the facts to Zane, made a statement of the facts to Zane, Stringfellow & Ingebretsen, plaintiff's counsel, but in answering the question of Mr. Allison of counsel for the com-pany declared in many particulars that exactly the opposite was the truth. Then, when further examined by the plaintiff's attorneys, he admitted that he did so because he did not want to lose his posi-tion.

The fact that W. R. Jones. Jr. exsuperintendent of the Salt Lake county Infirmary, who lost his $125,000 libel suit for a new trial, proves him "a hog for punishment" and entitles him to rank with the Sloux Indians who indulge in the excruciating self-torture of the sun dance,—Logan Journal. Will Present "Niobe."

COBURN'S MEETINGS

Marked Increase in Attendance at the Evangelist's Services.

There was a marked increase in the attendance at the moonday prayer meeting at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday. Evangelist Coburn made a very tender and appreciative reference to the late Dr. Harper of Chicago, whom he knew personally. Perhaps the one striking characteristic of this great educator was his hope and confidence, in which he was entirely free from fret, learning many and great burdens yet never worrying.

After the song service at 745 Dr. Coburn spoke of the 'Gifts of the Old Evangelism.' There are two emphasized over any over again in the Word eternal life and the baptism of the Holy Ghost. The gift must have eliminated from it every thought of purchase God's gifts come not because they are served or carned. All life must begin in the fermal life begins in the new birth and is eternal, an endless life endlessly growing in wisdom and happiness. It is the desire of the soul. The Father, who has made the animals with their needs and has then satisfied those needs, will not create man with the longing for eternal life and then mack him.

The gift of the Holy Ghost is the gift of power, making the weak efforts of God's children effective by the incoming of this wondows bleading that enables them to serve with power. It is the command of God that men be filled with the Holy Spirit.

Today's services will be Meeting at Y. M. C. A. 12:30: Bible study at East Side Baptist church, it p. m. evening meeting at 7:45 subject, "The Prayer of the Old Evangelism." There was a marked increase in the atten-ect, "The Prayer of the Old Evangelism."

Juniors to Issue Annual.

Juniors to issue Annual.

The University of Utab is to have a genuine annual published by the junior class this year for the first time in the history of the institution. Last year the Chronicle staff turned out a year-book of moderate size, but their experience proved that this was too large a task in addition to getting up the regular semi-monthly issues of the paper. Consequently, the proposition of putting out the annual was recently presented to the juniors, with the result that they have finally decided to undertake the work.

Byron W. King, the reader, lecturer and scholar, Thursday afternoon addressed the students of the University of Utah, under the auspices of the fourth year normals. The pith of his remarks was, fall in love with your work; aim high. These points he enforced and made vivid by well-chosen recitations and humorous stories. Sues on Old Judgment.
